

WHO WE ARE

China Chamber of Commerce of Import and Export of Foodstuffs, Native Produce and Animal By-Products (CFNA) was established in September 1988. Taking Coordination, Guidance, Promotion, Consultation and Service as its obligations, CFNA works in the following areas: It encourages a fair and orderly market. It protects the interests and lawful rights of its members and of the industry. It promotes industry development. The chamber of commerce assists members to explore the international market. It provides its members with training and consultancy on market, client and regulations. It coordinates to settle trade disputes of member companies. It reflects suggestions and opinions from members and the industry to the government, and contributes its suggestion and comment when the government makes policies. It guides members to make sure that their business operation is in accordance with relevant laws. It organizes exhibitions and forums. On behalf of the industry, it keeps contact and cooperates with international organizations. It organizes companies to respond to antidumping charges. Representing the industry, it acts against trade barriers. It works with the government to settle trade disputes. It promotes the establishment of quality systems and food safety systems. It facilitates the implementation of brand strategy. It investigates unfair competitions including the dumping of imported products. It also works to satisfy the requirement of the government and members.

The membership of CFNA has exceeded 6600 companies, among which 69 are members of the executive standing committee and 161 are members of the executive committee. Its membership, covering all parts of China, is composed of the largest and most representative companies and a large number of small and medium sized enterprises. The chamber of commerce has set up 41 chambers of commodities, all of which have a nation-wide membership.

The import and export value of CFNA members accounts for nearly 60% of China's total international agricultural trade. The product line of CFNA members involve all agricultural, forestry, food and farm products such as cereal, oil, oilseed, fresh and dried vegetable and fruit, poultry, meat, seafood, dairy, alcoholic beverages, soft drinks, tea, canned food, candy, honey products, mushroom, wood, forestry chemical, essential oil, fragrant, flower, candle, firework, cashmere, down and feather, fur, leather, bristle, casing, rug, carpet, rabbit hair and etc. The members are composed of companies targeting domestic and international markets. They can also be categorized as producers, processors, traders, research institutes, and agricultural associations at local levels. In terms of ownership, CFNA's membership includes state owned, foreign invested and private companies.

The members of CFNA represent the status and power of China's agricultural, forestry, food and farm industry as a whole. CFNA has 12 departments and Beijing Jinsui Exhibition Center. Our staffs are good at economics and foreign languages. They have good knowledge of the commodities, the market and the industry. They keep close contact with the government and member companies. They devote themselves to promoting the production and trade of member companies.

WHAT WE DO

Serving SMEs

CFNA and its affiliated chambers of commodity provide their member companies with various services including industry and market information, foreign buyers and sellers' recommendation, trade regulation information, and assist SMEs to participate in trade fairs and exhibitions in China and abroad.

Brand Strategy

CFNA has given full play to its advantages as a national industry organization with the support of the Chinese government. It helps its member companies develop branded products and promote in foreign markets. By developing collective brands, trademarks and logos, CFNA helps SMEs upgrade their products, obtain economic benefit and expand market shares.

Global Cooperation and Trade Promotion

CFNA has established cooperative relations with more than 400 industry organizations and trade associations of around 50 countries and regions. The cooperation includes the exchange of information about the market and trade regulations, website connection, staff training, delegation exchange and co-hosting seminars, participating in each other's trade fairs and exhibitions.

Bridging the Industry and the Government

CFNA and its affiliated chambers of commodity serve as the voice of its member companies and the industry. They regularly and timely pass forward the requirement and difficulties of the industry and its members, and offer suggestions and advice to the government.

Facilitating Export-oriented Agriculture

Every year CFNA organizes many seminars, trainings, trade fairs and exhibitions and holds meetings for local producers, farmers and exporters with overseas importers and scientific experts to help the farmers and companies to adjust agricultural structure and to develop export-oriented agriculture. CFNA also invites overseas importers and China's leading exporters from developed coastal regions to the main production provinces in central and western China to explore investment opportunities, find reliable supply and educate local farmers and processors in providing agricultural products that can meet the requirement of the international market.

Building Food Safety System

Standard system, certification system and inspection system are of great importance to ensure food safety and quality as well as to improve the competitiveness of Chinese agricultural products. CFNA and its affiliated chambers have devoted themselves to building these three systems in cooperation with relevant government bodies and research institutes.

Supporting World Free Trade

CFNA supports world free agricultural trade. While promoting China's export of agricultural products, CFNA has been cooperating with industry and trade associations of foreign countries to promote foreign agricultural products in the Chinese market.

Legal Service

CFNA provides its affiliated chambers of commodity and member companies with various legal services such as organizing response to anti-dumping charges, helping the companies select acting lawyers, providing legal consultancy, training, etc.

Training and Seminar

CFNA and its affiliated chambers of commodity provide training to its members through seminars, training courses on topics such as farming skill, processing, national and overseas standards, domestic and overseas laws and regulations on agricultural trade, inspection, certification, quality control and marketing.

Trade Fair and Exhibition Service

To promote the export and import of food and agricultural products, CFNA organizes and participates in various trade fairs and exhibitions in China and abroad.

Information and Consultancy Service

CFNA purchases, receives and exchanges information about production, supply, demand, trade and regulations of food and agricultural products of China and abroad. Such information is released to its members free of charge via CFNA website, daily email to members and newsletters of chambers of commodity.
